

Case Study

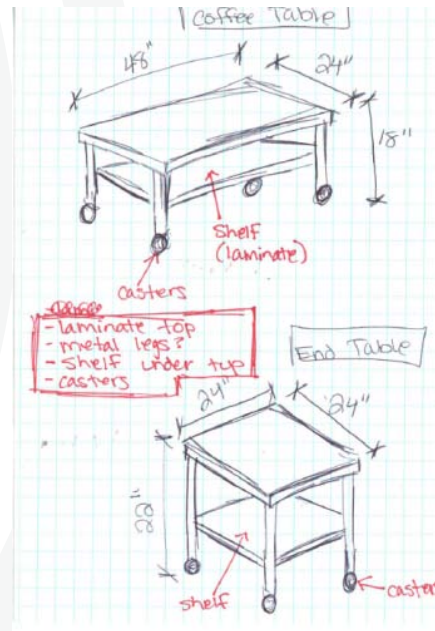

University Lounge Tables

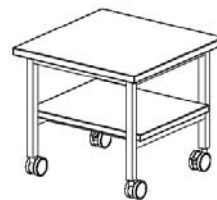

A major university was having difficulty finding custom occasional tables with shelves underneath. They came to us with a specific design and VanerumStelter Studio turned their sketches into reality.

A unitized metal base gives a modern look and locking casters allow the units to be easily re-configured in the room. The client thought the very first renderings were perfect and was thrilled the tables fell within their budget.

Vanerum•Stelter delivered the finished tables which can now be enjoyed by students in the residential areas of the university.

Initial client sketches allowed the Studio team to quickly create exactly what the customer wanted.

Line art and renderings allowed the customer to visualize the product.

